„Every day, new scientific studies and information emerge. Learning from them is fascinating – but we also need to be able to recognize what to trust. Only when we stand on solid evidence can we make the right decisions.“

„EBHC is a fundamental framework for me — it connects science, clinical practice, and patients, and it should form the basis of our everyday decision-making in medicine.“

„Evidence-Based Health Care means, for me, the assurance that as a methodologist I can build recommendations on the best available evidence, and as a patient I can trust that the care I receive is safe, effective, and respectful of my needs.“

*„EBHC is my anchor in reality.
In life, where decisions can be influenced by various factors (such as emotions or habits), EBHC serves as a reminder that it's possible to rely on something solid – on data, research, and verified evidence.“*

„EBHC means doing things the right way and with quality – ensuring that care truly benefits patients while making effective use of available resources. It’s about choosing approaches that work and avoiding those that lack support in evidence.“

„For me, EBM represents a fundamental professional attitude: decisions in medicine must not be based on impressions, momentary feelings, unverified practices, subjective perceptions, personal experiences, or intuition.“

„The EBHC approach can, to some extent, be compared to mountain hiking: reliable information and good planning are essential. When I head into the mountains, I don't rely solely on intuition or the advice of others – I verify facts, study the map, and adjust the route to my abilities. Similarly, a physician applying the principles of EBHC does not make decisions based on habit or tradition, but on scientific evidence, expert experience, and the individual needs of the patient.“
